Panel slates $100M for N.J. military bases

Tuesday, July 26, 2005

WASHINGTON - More than $100 million has been earmarked by the Senate Appropriations Committee for New Jersey military bases, Sens. Jon Corzine and Frank Lautenberg announced yesterday.

If approved, McGuire Air Force Base will receive $13.2 million to fund a new electrical distribution system and Fort Dix will receive $1.6 million for a shooting training facility.

The New Jersey Air National Guard at Lakehurst Naval Air Engineering Station would received $26.7 million for training facilities; $54.5 million would go to Earle Naval Weapons Station for a pier replacement; and Picatinny Arsenal would receive $4.5 million for the construction of a new fire station.
